

PRIVACY POLICY

Information collected

When filling in the online form or when reaching us directly via email, we collect personal information such as name, email or postal address, phone number, profession and IP address. This information is confidential and will not be shared with any third party.

Use of information

Personal information are collected and safely stored only with the purpose of future communications with you. This is stated on the website contact form and you can choose not to share this information. You can also choose to opt out from Marketing emails as part of the Wix GDPR.

Disclosure

The personal information obtained won't be disclosed to any third party except in those circumstances:

- (a) to the extent that we are required to do so by law;*
- (b) to the extent required should we consider you are at risk of harm from yourself or someone else;*
- (c) in order to establish, exercise or defend our legal rights.*

Security

Reasonable action will be taken to minimise the loss or misuse of your personal information.

Your rights

You can ask any personal information that we are holding on you and ask this information to be destroyed (within your right to be forgotten), subject to a set period of time as required by HMRC (7 years) and our business insurance policy.

Privacy policy updates

We reserve the right to modify this privacy policy at any time, so please review it frequently. Changes and clarifications will take effect immediately upon their posting on the website.
